FIGHTING IN FULL SWING ON RUSSIAN FRONTIER

FROM THE BALTIC TO THE DNIESTER

Berlin Claims a Steady Advance and Russia Concedes the Same after Resistance.

GREATEST GERMAN EFFORT Made Anywhere Since the War Began is Being Made in the East Now.

LONDON, July 19.—Attention is now centered on the gigantic operations in the eastern field of war, where fighting is in full swing in nearly every section of the Russian line from the Baltic to the Dniester.

General von Buelow, who was on the left of General von Kluck in the first invasion of France, now commands the extreme left of the German advance towards Riga, which is being conducted by cavalry on a scale exceeding anything heretofore during the war.

Berlin claims a steady advance and Petrograd concedes an advance after the Russian forces had made a stubborn contest.

On von Buelow's right is General Elchhorn, who is being held up by the great Russian fortress of Osowetz.

On von Elchhorn's right is General von Gallwitz, whose name appears for the first time in large operations. After capturing Przasnysz, he is now pressing a German attack on the Narew river and its tributaries.

On the famous Rawka and Bzura lines there is comparative quiet which is also reflected on the southwest side of Warsaw, but to the southwest the movement against Lublin, which was temporarily checked, is again in full swing.

The Russians must fight a decisive battle for the possession of Warsaw, or abandon all of Poland. The Germans are considered undoubtedly to prefer the first issue, hence the Russian observers are likely to attempt a complete withdrawal with their armies intact.

These tremendous activities by the Germans in the East suggest that they have little reserve left to devote to the western campaign which offers the Entente allies a respite either for the completion of munitions supplies or for a concerted attempt to recapture Lille.

Another view holds that the best service her allies could give Russia at this time would be the forcing of the Dardanelles. It is possible that the allies will combine both suggested attempts, but it is unquestionable that for the time the center of gravity in the war has shifted to eastern Europe.

The western front continues quiet without a sign of any new developments. The Italians report some progress in the mountains east of Trentino, where the invaders are now striking toward one of the two railroad serving Austria's Trentino forces.

The South Wales coal strike situation continues serious with the belief growing that the only solution lies in government operation of the mines during the period of the war.

RELATIVES CLAIM Bodies of Women Shot at Geneva and They Are Buried Today.

The bodies of Mrs. Stella Beverly and Miss Martha Harris, who were shot by J. L. Beverly at Geneva, a suburb of Bridgeport Friday, have been claimed by relatives and were buried Monday.

A brother of Mrs. Beverly claimed her body Saturday night and Sunday morning it was taken to her former home at Binghamton, where the funeral services were held Monday.

John T. Harris, of Fall Timber, father of Miss Martha Harris, claimed her body Sunday, and it was taken to her former home Monday and the funeral services and burial were held Monday afternoon.

CRUISER SUNK By an Austrian Submarine, According to an Official Communication from Vienna.

BERLIN, July 19.—The following official communication was received here today from Vienna under date of July 18:

"An Austrian submarine this morning torpedoed and sank, south of Ragusa, the Italian cruiser, Giuseppe Garibaldi. The cruiser disappeared within fifteen minutes."

The Giuseppe Garibaldi was an armored cruiser of 7,234 tons displacement. It was 344 feet long, laid down in 1898 and carried a complement of 650 men. It was armed with one ten-inch, two eight-inch, fourteen six-inch and ten three-inch guns. Ragusa is a fortified seaport of Austro-Hungary in Dalmatia, on a peninsula of the Adriatic sea, thirty-eight miles north-west of Cattaro.

HEARINGS

Of Men Who Clashed With Constables Set for Tuesday Evening.

Magistrate T. G. Nicewarner has set the hearing of Joseph N. Snodgrass, Solomon Saunders and Joseph Farris, alias Fearless, for 7:30 o'clock Friday evening. These are the men who clashed with Constables Robert M. Noon and Reuben J. Bartlett recently at the Saunders home on Baltimore street, when the officers went there to arrest J. N. Saunders. Officers reported that he was charged with slapping his own wife, but this was a mistake caused by a confusion of names.

There are four warrants against Joseph N. Saunders. One is for assaulting and beating Mrs. James Saunders, another for interfering with constable Bartlett, another for interfering with Constable Noon and Farris is charged with interfering with Constable Bartlett. Farris has been leased from jail under bond of $500 but the Saunders are both in jail.

FRANK WORSE

Delirious at Intervals and There is a Rapid Rise in His Temperature.

MILLEDGEVILLE, Ga., July 19.—Physician who examined Leo M. Frank in the state prison early today, said his condition was much worse. The jagged cut in his throat received at the hands of a fellow prisoner Saturday night was swollen and his temperature was 102.2-2.5. Early today Frank was restless, his temperature continued to rise and about daybreak he was delirious at intervals. The temperature reached the highest shortly before 8 o'clock and then began to drop. At 9 o'clock it was a fraction over 101. William Green, Frank's assailant, still refused to talk today. He is kept in iron. Some of the guards today recalled that he had expressed a feeling of animosity towards Frank before the latter was brought to prison.

JUST A SCHEME

To Get a Reward and Now the Fellow is under Arrest to Answer the Law.

READING, Pa., July 19.—Harry F. Westbrook, who last week went to a Pennsylvania railroad tower near Altoona with a piece of pipe containing twenty sticks of dynamite and that he had found the explosives on the tracks, was arrested late last night and today, according to the police, confessed he had invented the scheme in the hope of getting a reward. Westbrook said he had conceived the idea after reading of the exploits of Frank Holt. The bomb contained enough dynamite to destroy a city block.

SONS OF REVOLUTION MEET ON THE COAST

President General in Opening Address Urges the Need of a Hall of Archives.

PORTLAND, Ore., July 16.—From every state, from Hawaii and the Philippines, delegates to the twenty-sixth annual convention of the Sons of the American Revolution assembled today, representing fourteen thousand descendants of participants in that nation-making struggle. The last actual participant of which there was record died in 1869 and it is estimated that not more than thirty sons of Revolutionary soldiers are living now, but each year their descendants meet to refresh the memories of Valley Forge and Yorktown and sow seeds of patriotism in the heart of young America.

President General R. C. Ballard Thurston, of Louisville, Ky., in his opening address emphasized the need of a hall of archives at Washington. The records of the revolution, as well as of other government documents, he said, are stored in garrets, cellars and other undesirable places exposed to deterioration and destruction and inaccessible even to officials of the government.

"We don't know what they show as to the history of our country," he declared. A committee of the Sons of the Revolution will work during the coming session of Congress at Washington to cause the establishment of a permanent hall of records. The imperfectly known details of the adoption and signing of the Declaration of Independence were reviewed at length in the report of the secretary general. While the historic document was accepted by the com-

MEN FROM AUSTRALIA LANDING TO FIGHT THE TURKS

Australian artillerymen protected by guns of H. M. S. "Implacable" making landing at Dardanelles. Men from everywhere are fighting at the Dardanelles, in the terrific onslaughts of the allies against the Turks and their German officers, but none have been making a braver showing than the Australians, who have achieved almost as much distinction as the Canadians in France.

MINISTER RESIGNS

Pastor of the Central Christian Church Will Quit His Work Here November.

The Rev. W. M. Long, minister at the Central Christian church, tendered his resignation Sunday to become effective November 1. He stated that he had two or three things in view but had made no definite plans for the future. The pastorate of Mr. Long dates back ten years. There were only about sixty of his church faith here when he came to Clarksburg. Now there are 425 members of the church. The present church building, one of the roomiest and most beautiful in the city was built during his pastorate and the church congregation is one of the most substantial and active in the city. His resignation is generally regretted.

OIL BOOM

In the Piney Fork Field as Result of Some Fine Wells Coming in There.

NEW MARTINSVILLE, July 19.—Not since the excitement caused by the Piney Fork oil well discoveries has this section experienced such activity in oil well lines. Sunday the Kingsley well came in and is flowing at the rate of thirty barrels an hour. The well of the Hope Natural Gas Company yielded slightly over 250 barrels the first twenty-four hours. It is estimated that practically all the oil and gas well companies have leases on properties that are to be worked.

WEAPONS

Are Flourished, Man Says, and He Has Two Neighbors Arrested.

Wayne Riddle and Will Oldaker, both of Union Heights No. 2, have been arrested and required to appear at 7:30 o'clock Tuesday evening in Magistrate R. Edward Kidd's court on charges of violating the Johnson anti-weapon law. W. M. Cain, a neighbor, swore out a warrant against Riddle and Oldaker. He told the magistrate that Oldaker came to his house Saturday and called him out to fight him. On going out, he said, Oldaker pulled a black-jack from his pocket and as he did so, a razor fell to the ground. Then Riddle came running to the rescue, Cain said, with a bowie knife in his hand. Owing to these circumstances, Cain said there was no fight.

HEAVY LOSSES

Are Those of the Dardanelles Straits Expeditionary Forces to Date.

LONDON, July 18.—The total casualties of the Dardanelles expeditionary force to date in killed, wounded and missing have been 42,424 officers and men, Premier Asquith told the House of Commons today. The total includes both naval and military branches of the service. At an aggregate of 8,084 casualties among officers, the premier's statement said the killed numbered 1,923.

MANY DRUNK SUNDAY. Four men giving their names as Charlie Frank, Arlie Gabbert, Jack Robinson and Willie White were arrested by city police Sunday on charges of drunkenness in the streets. All paid fines of $6.60 each in police court Monday morning.

LUMBER BUSINESS VIRTUALLY RUINOUS

Charles S. Keith Tells Federal Trade Commission Market is Unsatisfactory.

CHICAGO, July 19.—Charles S. Keith, president of the Southern Pine Association, today gave the Federal Trade Commission, now on a tour of the country to investigate the business situation, a statement of conditions in the yellow pine lumber business. He said that the lumber trade was not good. Mr. Keith said his report covered the last eight years, and that during this period, with the exception of the last half of 1912 and the first part of 1913, the market had been unsatisfactory. "Today," asserted Mr. Keith's statement, "the lumber manufacturing business is virtually ruinous, and has been ever since the beginning of 1914. This state of affairs was accentuated immediately after the declaration of war. On the outbreak of war, a reduction of fifty-eight per cent came in the volume of sales in August as compared with July. In September there was thirty-nine per cent reduction as compared with August. This decrease resulted in the price of yellow pine reaching $11.83 a thousand feet at the mills in December, 1914.

"The cost of production of yellow pine lumber in 1914 was shown to be not less than $13.75 a thousand feet, while the price of lumber fell from the high mark of $18.42 February, 1913, to $11.83 in December, 1914. "This situation has affected working conditions. In some cases, wages have not been cut, but hours have been increased, while in many instances wages have been reduced from ten per cent to as much as twenty-five per cent. The cost of labor for the manufacture of yellow pine is about $7 a thousand feet, and where wages have been reduced ten per cent, the saving is approximately seventy cents a thousand. The average wage is $2 a day and thus each man employed in the yellow pine mills contribute $57 a year out of his rightful earnings to this condition of over-production.

"The yellow pine industry, according to the census bureau report of 1909, produced sixteen and one-fourth billion feet of lumber, so that the men have lost more than $11,000,000 in this competitive situation. In addition to the loss to labor and to capital, there is a waste of thirty per cent in every tree, as it does not pay under present conditions to cut up the less valuable parts of trees. An estimate places the loss in this manner at $45,000,000 a year. "The only remedy we can suggest is to stop producing more lumber than the market can assimilate. If this should be done, it ought to be under full supervision of your commission. It is our belief that this would not be in violation of law in that it would not be in restraint of trade, or lessen competition."

MISSING

Are Two Austrian Submarines and They Are Believed to Be Lost on Italian Coast.

PARIS, July 19.—A telegram from Rome, July 19, said two Austrian submarines, which left to reconnoiter the Italian coast, have not returned and are believed to have been lost. One of the submarines had a crew of twenty and the other a crew of forty. Their supplies of gasoline were sufficient for only four days.

AMERICA WILL ASSERT RIGHTS

MOTHERHOOD IS A FINE ART BUT IT IS LOST

Declares a Daughter of the Founder of the Salvation Army in Address.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 19.—Mrs. Catherine Booth-Clibborn, daughter of the Salvation Army founder, the late General William Booth, who is an evangelistic worker in London, spoke before the International Purty Congress here today on motherhood, which, she declared, "is the finest of arts—but a lost art."

She said: "Society has developed, especially within the last thirty years, a vast army of women who will not be women; married women who avoid children; incapable mothers who shirk the obligations and responsibilities of motherhood. We have women who are admirable flirts, coquets and talkers, splendidly efficient in all domains—business, science and art. All professions, are now open to her. She can act, dance, paint, sing, type, keep books, defend a case at bar, or be a policewoman. She can back horses, drink, gamble and smoke; and, now, be as capable a soldier as any man under Miss Colonel Charlesworth, who is training troops of women for Lord Kitchener. In fact, she can do anything and everything except fulfill all the highest of all destinies, the bringing forth of beautiful children and the making of them into men and women who will bless humanity.

"Woman's neglect and denial of her highest vocation is bearing bitter fruit. We see it in the white slave traffic more than anywhere else. We see the fruits in the hospitals. We see it in the reformatories. Some of the finest material for the making of useful lives is to be found there, run to seed all through the lack of mothers.

"Woman is not altogether to blame for her failure to fulfill destiny. The world has made and worships this false woman."

"Motherhood was the first thing to go in Greece and Rome. The Emperor Augustus saw his empire expire through the white slave traffic; France and Belgium are going in the same way. The same cancer is also eating at the core of the national life of America. Since coming to the United States I have been struck by the frightful tragedies in young lives—all for the want of a mother who has won the confidence and friendship of her children."

JOHN DOWD DEAD.

PARKERSBURG, July 19.—John Dowd, a prominent business man of the city, died at 2 o'clock this morning at his home on George street. His wife survives.

PACIFIC CONFERENCE HOLDS FIRST SESSION

Object is to Determine Basis of a Congress of the Pacific to Seek Co-operation

SAN FRANCISCO, July 19.—What was styled "The First Pacific Conference," opened on the exposition grounds here today, under auspices of the Asiatic Institute. The object of the conference is to determine the basis of a congress of the Pacific, which should seek the mutual co-operation of the nations of the Pacific area for common ends.

A number of men who have been prominently identified with the problems of the Pacific are to be heard, either in person or through letters, including Dr. Charles W. Eliot, president emeritus of Harvard; David Starr Jordan, chancellor of Leland Stanford University; Mebel T. Boardman, the chairman of the American Red Cross; United States Senator Henry Cabot Lodge, of Massachusetts; and Sidney L. Gulick, missionary and author.

Honolulu is suggested. According to discussion of the situation by Dr. Eliot, which was read at the conference, conditions should be ripe for a Pacific Congress in the early summer of 1916, "because the results of the European war on international relations and on trade between the Occident and the Orient will, by that time, have become manifest." Dr. Eliot suggested that Honolulu would be a good place for the congress, and that the principal countries about the Pacific ocean should be represented, for the consideration of matters of mutual interest. The success of any such congress would depend upon the general acceptance of certain principles of universal application, he said, such as the

On the High Seas in Accordance With International Law in Its Note.

WILSON IN CONFERENCE

With Secretary Lansing Finds They Are Practically Agreed on Nature of Note.

WASHINGTON, July 19.—President Wilson returned from Cornish, N. H. this morning. His train was on time and he drove at once to the White House to begin conferences with Secretary Lansing and other officials, preparatory to tomorrow's cabinet meeting which will take up America's reply to Germany's latest note on submarine warfare. Soon after the president's arrival he went to his desk in the executive offices and received Secretary Lansing for a conference. It was understood that the president and Mr. Lansing found that they had reached about the same conclusion—that the next communication to Germany will be a definite character, making it unmistakably clear that the United States cannot be expected to remain passive in the event of another attack on an unarmed and unresisting ship with a loss of American lives.

The note, it is now generally agreed, will announce to Germany the intention of the United States to assert its rights on the high seas in accordance with international law; there probably will be little or no discussion on the principle already treated at length in previous notes. Prompt action in despatching the note was general forecast. Tomorrow it will be submitted by the president to the cabinet and possibly may be revised again at Friday's meeting. In official quarters it was agreed the communication would be on its way to Berlin by Saturday.

The president is said to have become convinced that the next note to Germany must point out in much more emphatic terms than have heretofore been used the earnest intention of the United States not to surrender any of its rights.

MAN KILLED

On Railroad Tracks at Davisville Saturday Afternoon a Clarksburger.

PARKERSBURG, July 19.—That E. J. Gallagher, who was found along the Baltimore and Ohio tracks at Davisville Saturday afternoon, well dressed and with but a small amount of money in his clothing, was an Oklahoma oil well driller en route to his home in the vicinity of Clarksburg, is the only development in the case.

The driller whose name was not learned examined the remains at the Patton and Neal parlors Sunday morning and expressed the opinion, not with certainty, however, that the body was that of a man who had worked with him in the oil fields at Tulsa, Okla., some time ago. This led the authorities and undertakers to the belief that the man was probably on his way from Oklahoma to his home, possibly at Clarksburg.

The remains are still being held at Patton and Neal's and word is expected to be received from Clarksburg friends or relatives in regard to the disposition of the remains. It is stated authoritatively that the deceased's home was in Clarksburg and that he had a brother living in that city.

TO INVESTIGATE.

ALBANY, July 19.—A statement attributed to David Robinson, foreman of the jury that recently declared Harry K. Thaw sane, that the jury did not believe him to have been insane when he killed Stanford White, is to be investigated by Deputy Attorney General Becker.

BIG PEACH CROP.

KEYSER, July 19.—It is estimated that this year's crop of peaches in West Virginia will total between 2,000 and 3,500 cars. Of the amount nearly 3,000 cars of the crop will be produced in what is known as the West Virginia peach belt, extending along the main line of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad from Keyser to Martinsburg, and along the south branch of the same railroad from Green Springs to Petersburg.

MINISTER'S MOTHER DEAD.

Mary E. Mitchell died at Fairmont Sunday noon aged 75 years. She was the mother of the Rev. Clarence D. Mitchell, pastor of the Fairmont Central Christian church. Funeral services were conducted at 11:30 o'clock a. m. Monday by the Revs. Messrs. Woodley, of Bethany, W. M. Long, of Clarksburg; and A. H. Beavin, of Fairmont. The body was taken to Piqua, O., for burial.

THAW HOME.

PHILADELPHIA, July 19.—Harry K. Thaw, who arrived here last night from Atlantic City, left at 5:30 today for his home in Pittsburg.
